

Our Contributors

Rosemary Arthur is a theologian with a PhD in Early Church History. She is particularly interested in spirituality, mysticism and heresy. She lives in Yorkshire.

Donald A. Bailey after earning an Hons. BA from the University of Saskatchewan read Modern History at Oxford University and then earned a PhD from the University of Minnesota. Now retired, he taught Early Modern European History for thirty-six years at the University of Winnipeg, branching out to teach the History of Women over 2500 years and of Political Thought from Machiavelli to Wollstonecraft. His publications have touched on the France of Louis XIII, the cultural rights of French-Canadians and the Métis, aspects of the thinking of Locke and Rousseau, and Unitarian Universalist History and Theology.

Tom Banham after twenty-three years in the Royal Navy was given early retirement in 1968 to train for the UK Unitarian ministry. Diverted to Northern Ireland he was called to the First Presbyterian Church, Rosemary Street, Belfast near the height of "The Troubles". There he became very involved with the Ballymascanlon Meetings serving, among other tasks, as chair and convenor of the Inter-Church Theology Committee and representative of the five smaller denominations for ten years.

Lena Cockroft is Non-Subscribing Presbyterian minister to the congregations of Glenarm, Cairncastle and Ballymoney, co. Antrim, Northern Ireland and a former Moderator of the Non-Subscribing Presbyterian Church of Ireland.

Yvonne Joan Craig is a member of St Anne's Church, Soho, London. Her latest book is Peacemaking for Churches (2000, London: SPCK).

Moyra Donaldson is the author of six collections of poetry, Snakeskin Stilettoes, Beneath the Ice, The Horse's Nest and Miracle Fruit, from Lagan Press, Belfast. An American edition of Snakeskin Stilettoes was published in 2002 from CavanKerry Press, New Jersey.

Her Selected Poems was published in 2012 by Liberties Press, Dublin and a new collection, The Goose Tree, was published in June 2014, also from Liberties Press. She is published internationally and has read at festivals in Europe, Canada and the USA. Moyra is also an experienced creative writing facilitator, working in a wide range of settings.

Pat Frankish is a Clinical Psychologist, Fellow and past President of the British Psychological Society. She has degrees in psychology, including a doctorate and a Foundation Degree in Ministry Studies. Mother of three grown up children and activist in her local community, she has more recently followed her vocation into the Church. She is a licensed Reader and exploring priestly ministry. From being the local Town Mayor, and leading the Town Hall team in an extensive refurbishment she has now put her energies into supporting her local Church. She finds the links between psychology, philosophy and theology fascinating and devours texts with energy. She plans to write her own book on the psychology/theology link in the not too distant future.

Peter B. Godfrey is a retired Unitarian minister and Editor Emeritus of Faith and Freedom. He was one of the founders, and is a former secretary and chair of the Send a Child to Hucklow Fund.

Phillip Hewett is Minister Emeritus of the Unitarian Church of Vancouver. Born and educated in England, he first went to Canada to train as an air navigator in the RAF during the war. Following his subsequent theological training, he returned as assistant minister in Montreal, and then came back to England for a ministry at Ipswich. In 1956 he began his 35-year ministry in Vancouver, and after a short interim ministry in Victoria made Vancouver his home in retirement.

Andrew M. Hill is a retired Unitarian minister living in York after serving St Mark's Unitarian Church in Edinburgh for 33 years. He has a particular interest in Unitarian history and in Unitarian and Unitarian Universalist affairs generally. As well as writing published articles on various aspects of Unitarian history he has also edited Celebrating Life: a book of special services (1993) and was joint editor of the hymn book Sing Your Faith (2009)

Alan Ruston, a retired civil servant, has been writing, speaking and lecturing on historical and religious subjects since the 1960s. A former editor of the Transactions of the Unitarian Historical Society, he was Chair of the Council of Manchester College Oxford and is a former President of the Unitarian General Assembly. He has written a variety of articles for this journal and his publications include over 40 entries for the Oxford DNB and works on Nonconformity and related subjects.

Leonard Smith is a retired minister and a former principal of Unitarian College, Manchester. His academic interests have included Church and Labour history, and he was for a time Bishop Fraser Lecturer (part-time) in Ecclesiastical History in the University of Manchester. He is the author of The Unitarians: A Short History, and Religion and the Rise of Labour, and in retirement has written several local interest books relating to the maritime and social history of South Lakeland, where he now lives.

Dan C. West is a retired Presbyterian minister living in Atlanta who spent most of his career in college work. He has worked in a number of liberal arts colleges and was president successively of Lyon College and Carroll University over a period of twenty years. He holds degrees from Austin College, Union Presbyterian Seminary, and Vanderbilt and Harvard Universities.